Nixon asks you aid panel

KEY BISCAYNE, Fla. (UPI)—President Nixon has created a new domestic Council Committee on Veterans Services to coordinate federal efforts to "more fully meet the needs of the veterans."

Nixon, announcing his action Sunday in a national radio address from his Key Biscayne home, said the committee would be headed by Administrator of Veterans Affairs Donald Johnson and would include four unnamed cabinet members.

Nixon acknowledged unemployment among Vietnam veterans has risen within the past three months and they are also faced with staggering increases in the costs of higher education.

Appealing to employers to hire veterans, he said:

Insurgent forces attacked the drive, 12 miles northwest of Phnom Penh, on March 18 and gained control of it Thursday after 11 days of bloody fighting that left an unknown number of casualties on both sides.

Who's going which way?

Golan shelling draws warning

By United Press International

Syrian and Israeli guns and tanks resumed their daily pounding in the Golan Heights for the first straight day today and Israeli Defense Minister Moshe Dayan was reported to have immediately ordered a full-scale military response.

The Israeli army command said that Syrian gunners opened up on one of the two Israeli positions captured from Syria in the October war on Mt. Hermon. It was the third attack within a week on the towering plateau, which is the only Israeli-held territory in Syria.

A spokesman said there were no casualties in the relatively light morning artillery and tank exchanges, however.

Syrian communiques indicated the Syrians were escalating both the duration and scope of what the Arab press was calling a "war of attrition."

On Saturday and Sunday they said artillery and tank fire continued for 11 hours. For the first time Sunday night they spoke strikingly in depth—at Israeli military targets behind the front lines.

The Israeli newspaper Maariv said Dayan declared a state of emergency in the Golan Heights to a closed session with Jewish future leaders in New York, Maariv said.

The fighting went on in the Golan Heights as the talks for troop disengagement continued. Dayan said the talks were expected to be completed in Washington in about 10 days. Dayan expressed the belief Sunday that Syria probably wanted an agreement.

Dayan said Sunday the Soviet Union was displaying the Syrians with arms and said he would make a defense secretary James R. Schlesinger for weapons to match the Russian contributions when they meet later today to discuss arms supplies.

Stamp allotments hiked

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Government food stamp allotments for needy four-person families will rise another $4 per month to $30 a month July 1 to help poor people catch up with this year's continued food inflation, the Agriculture Department said today.

The increase will put stamp allotments nearly 30 percent above the rate in effect at the end of 1973.

Agriculture officials estimated about 14 million needy Americans will be getting food stamps in July compared with about 13 million in January. The figure is rising because the Agriculture Department is shifting needy people to the stamp program in some areas which previously had used a commodity donation program.

The hike will raise the estimated cost of the stamp program for the year starting July 1 by about $1.4 billion, said Agriculture Secretary Earl A. Babbitt.

The four-person couple allotment for a family of four, which was set at $16 a month last July 1 and raised to $18 a month effective last Jan. 1, will go up another $4 this coming July because Congress has ordered stamp benefits raised twice a year instead of the annual adjustment system used until last summer.

Officials said the income ceiling for food stamp eligibility will also be raised, with the limit for most four-person households going from the present $12 a month to a new level of $20 a month. In some cases, welfare recipients are eligible for stamp aid even when their income exceeds the ceiling.

Britain demands better deal

LUXEMBOURG (UPI)—Britain today demanded a better deal for itself within the European Community. It threatened to leave unless it gets it.

British Foreign Secretary James Callaghan, in his debut at a meeting of the nine Common Market foreign ministers, laid the long-awaited plan for "renegotiation" of Britain's membership in the bloc before the ministers.

Callaghan also expressed concern about the degree of disagreement between the community and the United States. Surely this is not inevitable, he said. "If the British people thought it was, it would adversely influence their attitude towards the European project of a community."

Callaghan said the British people had not been consulted on the terms that were negotiated by the previous Conservative Party government of Britain at the time of our entry in January, 1973, Callaghan said.

"We wish to put those errors right and if we succeed, there will then be a firm basis for continuing British membership of a strengthened community."

Most Valley legislators plan for 1974 races

By DAVID EMMO
T.N. Capital Bureau

BOISE—Having just served in the third longest state legislature in the history of Idaho, most Idaho Valley lawmakers plan to seek another term in office.

A survey of the 18 southern Idaho senators and representatives indicates that most of them want to check with local contacts before announcing final decisions. But no one said definitely he would not run again.

One member of the legislature who might not seek his seat again in November is considering running for a higher office.

Rep. Vernon Ravenscroft, R-Tuttle, is expected to announce sometime next month his candidacy for lieutenant governor. But Ravenscroft said last week he had made up his mind definitely. He also rumored to be serving the governor's other book.

The rundown by district:

Legislative District 1—Rep. Steve Antone, R-Rupert, and E. V. McLean, R-Ketchum, both will probably seek another term in office. Sen. John Pearson, R-Rupert, is also leaning heavily in that direction.

Legislative District 2—Rep. Lee Barron, R-Corral, is definitely going to run again, and his colleagues Rep. Virgil Reams, R-Mountain Home, and Sen. J. Wilson Steen, R-Glenris

FF desert searchers draw blank

TWIN FALLS—Searchers today drew a blank in looking for two missing persons in Twin Falls County.

He said—horsesmen—from Idaho and Nevada Saturday searched the desert east of Hagerman for 1877 Holbrook Wells, Nev., who disappeared as a child.

Coyder said no trace of Holbrook was found. He said it never about a week later, was empty.

Coyder said Smith's family has heard nothing from him since he left home to meet friends in a fishing trip the day before his father was found in the canyon.

Officers are also continuing to investigate the disappearance of "Durrell" Smith, 34, Snake Springs. The four-wheel drive pickup truck and camper shell were found two weeks ago in the Snake River Canyon. The cab of the vehicle, registered under the name of a week later, was empty.

Coyder said Smith's family has heard nothing from him since he left home to meet friends in a fishing trip the day before his father was found in the canyon.

Judge misquoted

TWIN FALLS—A misquoting of a judge reversed the meaning of a quotation carried in the Times News Sunday.

In a story concerning criminal libel charges brought against the South Idaho Press and its managing editor, a quotation from Judge Judge J. G. Smith, Jr., said he would have read, "I wouldn't have instigated the action if I hadn't felt there was a very strong probability that the law had been violated."

The magistrate did not say the law had been violated, as reported Sunday. The Times News regrets the error.

No dangers on Perrine

TWIN FALLS—Irrigation siphon installation, not hazardous bridge conditions, forced the closing of Perrine Bridge to two-way traffic last week, according to a highway engineer.

The bridge was closed to two-way traffic from Tuesday through Saturday because the highway on the south side was narrowed while the siphon was being put in. Incident engineer John Scholman said today.

Two-way traffic is using the bridge today.

Since only one lane of cars could use the narrowed highway at the time, the bridge was closed for both south and northbound traffic on an alternating schedule.

It was the second time traffic has been blocked since construction of the new bridge started, Scholman said. Last fall, all bridge traffic was stopped temporarily after a tremor loosened by blasting hit one of the span's structural supports.

Improving highway engineers Howard Johnson and the bridge is safe to cross.

Even so, if a number of fast-moving cars and heavy trucks were to slam on their brakes at one time, the impact could possibly cause some vibration in the structure, he said.

Johnson said he cannot predict what would happen to the bridge under this condition.

He said the structure is built to withstand load forces rather than horizontal forces. But, he added, the bridge is also made to take windload and some bending forces.

Johnson said such a situation is "without precedent." He said all the cars "just couldn't brake at once," but with strong braking times, the stopping action of one car would offset the braking action of another.

Mariner searching for Mercury moon

PASADENA, Calif. (UPI)—Mariner 10 hunted through space today for a glimpse of "Charley"—the unknown moon of Mercury whose possible existence surprised astronomers Sunday.

The cameras of the spacecraft, nursing a serious short circuit in its electrical system, swept the area above sun-baked Mercury as it retreated from the planet at 25,000 miles an hour, hoping to confirm the existence of the moonlet.

It would be the third known moon in the solar system.

future plans. Rep. Ralph Abner, R-Twin Falls, is in the same boat, although he sounds more confident he will see another term. Rep. Ray Lincoln, R-Twin Falls, has already decided to go for another term.

Legislative District 3—Rep. J. V. Chaburn, R-Albion, and Ernest Hale, R-Burley, are both probably going to try to run for another term. Sen. Robert Saxvik, D-Burley, is expected to go for another term.

By the end of the session, only one lawmaker, Sen. A. J. White, D-Corral, had announced he would not seek another term. White has served a total of eight years in both the House and the Senate.

Report details SLA

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—The kidnapping of Patricia Hearst was part of a plan to spark a national revolution by Maoist guerrillas, according to the Los Angeles Times.

The Times today published a detailed report on the Symbionese Liberation Army, including the identities of alleged members, the history of the group, the functions and headquarters of its leaders, their beliefs and plans. The report quoted "prison" officials, unnamed suspected sympathizers with the group, prisoners, police and radicals.

According to the Times:—The SLA consists of about a dozen hard core revolutionaries, men and women, black and white, plus about a dozen "above ground" sympathizers.

—It was formed at the state prison—medical facility at Vacaville, mainly by a Black Cultural Association, a sanctioned educational group that was infiltrated and taken over by white Marxist teachers.

—Some of its members had links with the Black Liberation Movement, a militant Marxist group that has been implicated in acts of violence directed at the prison system.

—Police believe they know many of the SLA members are, but will not move against them for fear the group will retaliate by harming Miss Hearst.

—The SLA hoped that by killing Oakland School Superintendent Marcus Foster, and kidnapping J. Edgar Hoover, it would inspire a national revolution with radical groups across the country, arming themselves and committing acts of violence against the ruling class in the name of the oppressed people.

Question...

The embalming techniques of the ancient Egyptian civilization stand out historically as one of their greatest accomplishments. Why can't American embalmers reach these skills?

Answer

The American Funeral industry has been asked this question since embalming became an accepted process in the observance of Christian funerals. There is no doubt at all why modern day embalmers cannot duplicate or exceed the preservation aspects of the Egyptian mummies. Since the birth of Christ, however, we have assumed a different attitude toward death. The Christian world of today can see no purpose in mutilating the body after death to effect its resurrection.

Embalming in the modern concept as practiced by our funeral home is not intended to retain the appearance of the deceased person in an acceptable manner until friends and relatives have gathered for a proper burial service. We serve no religious purpose beyond this logical and natural fulfilling conclusion to human existence.

TWIN FALLS — A public meeting to discuss the Rock Creek study project has been called for 7:30 p.m. Friday in the Twin Falls County Municipal Building.

Don Zuck, chairman of the county parks and recreation commission, said a study team from the University of Idaho has been studying the Rock Creek area and is interested in obtaining additional historical information about the area from any pioneer families in the area.

The committee is also attempting to pinpoint landmarks and points of interest, collect statistics about geology, hydrology, recreational sites, nature trails, wildlife and water impoundments. They are asking for other information and community desires not yet considered by the study team.

Any written documents or other data, useful articles, and general information will be welcomed by the team, Zuck said, and persons are encouraged to bring these to the Friday night meeting.

He said the team has uncovered some useful and interesting information but much more is needed. In addition to the Friday meeting, the University study group plans a final meeting in early May to present its findings and a final collection of information. The meeting is tentatively set for May 3 at 7:30 p.m. in the judicial building.

Under the bill, the Carey Land Act which was the force behind the development of southern Idaho in 1910 and 1911 may soon be re-activated, according to Rep. Vernon Riffe, R-Tuttle. He said 1.4 million acres of public lands may soon be opened to homestead.

As the bill is now, any person or company can qualify to the applications for any of the available lands, once the Senate approves the bill and the governor signs it into law.

The Carey Land Act remained inactive since 1922. Under the bill the Department of Water Resources would be responsible for the act.

O'Dell Frandsen, Shoshone district manager for the BLM, said he has been able to find very few acres in the Shoshone district that could be designated for this purpose, as most of the public lands in the district are designated for multiple use.

Frandsen said the Shoshone district officials have asked the state BLM office for clarification on the matter.

Now, more than ever

Today is April Fool's Day. Traditionally, in the Magic Valley as well as in other areas of the United States and the Western world, it has been a day for humor and pranks, mostly harmless and well intentioned but now and then not so funny.

Considering the solemn if not downright sorrowful state in which the world is viewed these days, perhaps this would be a good time to consider the effects of a bit of humor in lightening the burdens and worries afflicting most of us.

Since April 1 is a day dedicated to humor, it might be the best time to start trying to brighten the outlook with a joke or some other funny endeavor.

We think the laughs from a prank or bit of humor are needed to dispel the clouds of gloom — now, more than ever.

Lunch menaced

Portland Oregonian

Inflation has already destroyed the morning of the average American worker and now threatens lunch.

The average American will spend two hours and 38 minutes out of an eight-hour work day to pay 1974 federal, state and local taxes, according to a survey by Tax Foundation, a nonprofit research organization that analyzes the government's management of fiscal matters.

That leaves the afternoon hours of an average work day for a worker to earn rent and meal money. It will take the average worker one hour and 45 minutes to pay for housing and another hour and a minute to earn enough money for food.

That takes care of five hours and three minutes of an average work day for taxes, shelter and food — survival. What's left is two hours and 57 minutes for clothing, transportation to and from work, recreation, health care, education, home furnishings, maintenance and repairs, personal items, savings and investments.

Americans who vowed in 1973 that they wouldn't put up with inflated tax burdens another minute were just kidding themselves.

In 1974, the average American will have to work an additional 60 seconds each day to meet the tax bill on goods and services, the survey reveals.

With prices rising on virtually all goods and services as reflected by the cost-of-living index, it is no surprise that a recent Harris poll showed that 86 per cent of the American public believes the country is in the grip of a recession right now.

The 22 per cent that don't believe it, according to the Harris poll, ironically, parallels the 22 per cent that the Department of Labor says "moonlight" on a second job.

That second job in these times may be gravy for the potatoes earned in the first job. But then there's no time to eat.

New crop threat

Portland Oregonian

President Nixon and administration officials are banking on heavy crops this summer to cut food prices by next fall. Food and fuel have been the prime ramrodders of inflation.

But from the Willamette Valley to the Connecticut Valley farmers are lined up to get chemical fertilizers. Prices are sky high, but right now fertilizer simply isn't available at any price. Oil is used to produce most of the fertilizer, and it has been going into heating distillates and gasoline. Even before the oil shortage, there was a world shortage of fertilizers.

Agriculture officials expect substantial increases in areas planted to cotton, corn, wheat and sorghum this summer. Supply by fall. But the impressive acreage increases will not help if the yield drops off because of fertilizer shortages or because farmers use less of it to save dollars.

BERRY'S WORLD

"It's probably just a post-oil embargo letdown!"

Letters hint Greek shift away from NATO

WASHINGTON — Correspondence between a powerful figure in the Greek military dictatorship and President "Mammoth" Quadrafi, the anti-Western dictator of Libya, has raised alarm here over deteriorating relations between Greece and the United States.

The secret correspondence is between Quadrafi and Col. Manousos Giannakis. But the liaison began even before the overthrow of former dictator George Papadopoulos.

It dramatizes this fear: the new military clique now in power in Athens is searching for a way to West in a form that could have dangerous implications for the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO), particularly West's defense of the eastern Mediterranean Sea.

For example, the negotiations with Greece for a porting of U.S. nuclear missiles near Athens have been virtually abandoned because of impossible demands from the military junta, nominally led by Brig. Gen. Demetrios Ioannidis. Although the U.S. Navy claims these negotiations will eventually succeed, State Department realists are certain the only turn in U.S.-Greek relations has ended any such possibility.

Thus, some political analysts are convinced that the colonels are looking for new political arrangements. The secret correspondence between Quadrafi and Col. Manousos Giannakis points the one possible direction. Quadrafi was the single most influential Arab leader who refused to go along with lifting the anti-U.S. oil boycott.

The anti-American character of the new regime is becoming clear in other ways. Sovietian Eastern Europe and the Middle East stunned Westerners when he blamed failure of the homeporting deal on President Nixon's weakness under impeachment proceedings.

Indeed, signs of the major transformation now going on between Athens and Washington are unavoidable. Here for consultations, U.S. ambassador Henry Tushnet is running no words in private talks with high officials of the State Department.

Tushnet is privately warning the present deterioration carries ominous risks for both NATO and the U.S. Other observers flatly predict Greek intellectuals and students may move to open revolt soon.

Potentially far worse, is growing anger against the regime by Greek workers and the middle class. Inflation is approaching an annual rate of 50 per cent, a factor that threatens revival of Marxist parties knocked out of action 20 years ago by Harry Truman's Greek-Turkish aid program.

The danger of a Communist revival was ridiculed by the State Department during the seven years the Papadopoulos dictatorship was wooed by President Nixon. Now, however, high officials here say privately economic chaos plus military dictatorship makes a radical turn toward Communism a possibility.

Either — neutralism, Quadrafi-style — or Communism would pose deadly alternatives to President Nixon and NATO. Yet, that menace is greater today than at any time since the 1947 overthrow of parliamentary government.

MAN-EATER

Loss of personal touch costs confidence

WASHINGTON — When the Harris Survey conducted a massive study last fall for a Senate subcommittee, one of the questions asked of respondents dealt with confidence in major public and private institutions.

The survey found that only 29 per cent of the people have "a great deal of confidence" in major companies.

A number of business leaders have reacted to that finding with alarm. A great deal of soul searching has been going on in an effort to isolate some of the reasons for this dismal rating. One cause, I submit, may lie in the failure of big business to retain a personal and a human touch.

It is often easy — but it is often useful — to leap from a specific example to a general observation. Let me cite the recent experience of a young man, a Vietnam veteran and an honors student, with the Master Charge people.

Master Charge. Beyond doubt, it is the business credit card system operated through 3,000 American banks. Last year these member banks had 31 million cardholders who maintained 19 million active accounts. Collectively, the banks handled nearly $7.9 billion in sales and services from 1.2 million merchants, restaurants and professional offices.

Among the 6,100 member banks is the Bank of Virginia, which has 150,000 cardholders. Among its cardholders is — or soon will be — a 23-year-old student and veteran of whom I speak. The young gentleman received a Master Charge card with a $100 limit and what with one thing and another, chiefly clothing, he wound up with $541 charged to his account.

He was not delinquent by so much as a penny. He had faithfully paid every installment, including the 18 per cent annual interest, as it came due. He was simply "over-limits."

This fact was churned up by the computers, which routed his account to the "collections and over-limits department." There it launched into a series of harassing telephone calls. These calls, directed at a middle-aged fellow specifically me, who serves in loco parentis to the young gentleman. Explanations and assurances proved useless. There were thinly veiled warnings that "Mrs. Stimil" would have to turn the account over to collections. A $150 check was mailed on a Saturday, but when it failed to arrive by Monday night, the telephone rang again.

It was "Mrs. Stimil," but as it developed, it was not "Mrs. Stimil" at all. It was a hard name to remember, absolutely correct, upon inquiry, to provide her true name. This impasse provoked a "conversation" with her night supervisor, who may be identified for these purposes as "Mr. Wilson." Alas, Mr. Wilson had no first name, or at least no first name he would disclose. He was not allowed to give out that information, he said.

I pause to voice a certain admiration for Mr. Wilson. In his own private and personal life he may be a delightful fellow, but on the telephone he is a master of the Reply Charge and the Countercharge Quizzismos. His department's attitude, was pure arrogance. Mr. Wilson's "Mrs. Stimil" had no first name either.

The bogus "Mrs. Stimil" it turned out, was a night-shift harasser using a day-shift name. And the reason for all this anonymity, it later transpired, is that employees of the collections and over-limits department, do not like to be harassed.

There is more to the story, but the point can be made. Here was a great banking corporation grown too large to take a personal interest in a young man's solvent and responsible, who happens to have a brilliant future ahead of him. The Master Charge computers spit out certain impersonal information, which in turn triggered certain telephone calls which have in turn prompted these reflections upon the loss of confidence in big business.

There are times, when incidents of this kind come along, that one would like to grab business leaders by their lapels and give them a good shake. Why have people lost confidence in major companies?

Gentlemen, I would like to say, "This is why?"

And look who buys embargoed Cuban cigars

WASHINGTON — I went to Canada the other day and was shocked to see that the Canadians were selling Cuban cigars.

"How can you sell Cuban cigars?" I asked a friend in Toronto, "when the United States, your closest ally and friend, has an embargo on them?"

"What's wrong with selling Cuban cigars?" he asked.

"What's wrong with selling Cuban cigars?" I said angrily. "Don't you know that Cuba is a Communist country?"

"So is the Soviet Union," he replied. "That doesn't seem to bother you from selling Pepsi-Cola to them."

"That's different," I said. "We're selling Pepsi to the Russians because of the detente. We don't have a detente with Cuba."

concerned about communism, how come you keep sending Kissinger to China?"

"One-third of the people in the world live in China. Besides, China is a long way from the United States. Cuba is just around the corner."

My Canadian friend was not convinced.

"He said, 'Do you know who buys most of the Cuban cigars in Canada?'"

"Who?"

"Americans. The Americans come up here and smuggle them back into the United States."

"I don't believe you," I said. "No American would smoke a Cuban cigar while the embargo was on."

"It's true. Cuban cigars are much too expensive for Canadian tastes. But it's a big deal for an American to get a real Havana."

"If what you tell me is true, it's outrageous. I think Canada owes it to the United States to refuse to sell Cuban cigars to Americans."

"If you want to have a beef with Cuba," my friend said, "what's your business? But don't tell us who we can sell our cigars to."

"Somebody," he said, "is fighting on the beaches of Newfoundland, you'll remember what you said."

"By the way, do you want to smuggle back some Cuban cigars with you?"

"How much are they?" I asked.

"The cheapest Monte Christos are a dollar apiece."

"All right, I'll take back one box with me just to show the people in Washington how fierce our friends in Canada really are."

"But the Soviets have been shifting you on practically everything since the detente. Yet you're giving them wheat and pushing their vodka in the United States."

"You're trying to confuse the issues," I said. "The Soviet Union is a major power."

"So is the United States," he said. "What good is the embargo on Cuban cigars?"

"It's our way of showing Cuba we will not stand for military dictatorships in the Western Hemisphere."

"What about the military dictatorships in Brazil, Chile and Paraguay?" he asked.

"They don't make Cuban cigars," I replied. "It seems to me that Canada should be as concerned about communism as the United States."

"Well," said my friend, "if you're not

Abby

Abigail Van Buren

© 1972 by Chicago Tribune-H. W. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: How can I meet Prince Charles? I have always admired him, and it has been my dream to meet him one day, but I'm not having any luck. I've written him several letters, and each time his secretary has answered, saying: "The Prince of Wales regrets that he is unable to meet you."

I am a normal, intelligent, 20-year-old college girl. I'm told I am pretty and have a pleasing personality. I've read everything I could find about the royal family in general and Prince Charles in particular. I'll bet I know more about the royal family than most people living in England and the rest of the United Kingdom.

Prince not for her

I hope you won't think I'm crazy, but I have even taken horseback-riding lessons, and I plan to take flying lessons when I can afford it, because I know those are Prince Charles' favorite sports. Also, if we ever meet, I will have something to talk to him about.

Abby, you're supposed to have all the answers. Can you help my dream come true? CATHY IN BROOKLYN

DEAR CATHY: Sorry, but I don't have the answer to this one. Dreaming is all right, but we have to live in the real world. So, wake up, Abby, your "Prince Charming" could be someone you've already met—in a Brooks Brothers suit with a Brooklyn accent, yet!

DEAR ABBY: Please settle a family argument. My husband, who is 43, told our 17-year-old daughter that she was "filling out" nicely—then he asked her what her bra size was.

Our daughter became embarrassed, blushed, and said she didn't want to tell him. I came in, but she refused to answer the question, and I didn't think it was anything her father had to know.

He became angry and said that as her father he had a right to know! Our daughter was nearly in tears, and I ended the discussion by siding with her, and that is where we left it.

Now my husband is upset with both me and my daughter. Abby, do you think that was a proper question for a father to ask his 17-year-old daughter?

OLD-FASHIONED MOM

DEAR MOM: No! Your budding daughter's bra size is none of Dad's business. And while we're on the subject of measuring things, I wonder what your husband's I.Q. is?

DEAR ABBY: I am 35, happily married, and the mother of three. My husband and I enjoy a glass of wine with dinner. We never become intoxicated, and we never get my grandparents' (my mother's parents) strongly disapproving of alcoholic beverages as a sign of respect to them. I never serve it in their presence.

I had eight other guests for dinner, but because my grandparents were here, I omitted wine. I overheard my husband and I, my parents, and the other guests would have enjoyed some.

When my husband and I are dining in my parents' home, they always serve wine, but if the grandparents drop in unexpectedly, everyone rushes around hiding the wine bottle and glasses.

I don't want to hurt my grandparents, but I wonder if this is the proper way to handle the wine situation.

ASKING

DEAR ASKING: Since you and your parents ordinarily enjoy wine at dinner, I think it is unnecessary to ditch the bottle and glasses when the disapproving grandparents unexpectedly drop in. You're probably not fooling them anyway.

Training program

Fire fighting procedures practiced

BY BONNIE BAIRD JONES
Times-News Writer

TWIN FALLS — Despite snow depths covering high forest areas, Sawtooth National Forest personnel underwent fire fighting practice Friday.

The fire simulator, consisting of a series of slides projected onto a two-sided screen in which slides can be changed and superimposed to show changing conditions in the fires, was used for the special training program.

Trainees are given a set of weather, wind and fire conditions and as they apply men, equipment and fire fighting techniques, the slides change and are superimposed over others to show flareups, control success and other factors.

If the trainee or ranger being tested on fire fighting procedure calls for the correct equipment, manpower and aerial attacks the slides show a reduced smoke and fire condition. If not, the fire will continue to build.

Robert Hagerland and recreation specialists with the Sawtooth Forest, said the same simulator unit is being programmed to provide avalanche control and rescue training.

The simulator, set up in the forest service warehouse, simulated today the season's operation from which the slides are projected and in the field radio communications equipment. On the other side of the screen, enclosed by black plastic drapes, the trainee gives orders and calls for fire fighting procedures by radio and watches the projected fire.

About 50 forest service personnel from the Sawtooth headquarters, ranger districts and the Sawtooth National Recreation Area attended the program which began Thursday and concluded Friday.

During Thursday sessions, fire fighting topics were discussed. Bill Williams, Sawtooth fire control officer in charge of the operation, discussed use of aircraft, preplanned dispatch of aircraft and forest overland team.

Robert Hagerland, fire control officer, Ketchikan, discussed helicopter operation. Dick Standley, fire dispatcher, spoke on helicopter project use, scheduling and payment. Tom Farr, Ketchikan district ranger, discussed air patrol and standard operating procedures.

Darrell Wolfe, forest electronics technician, talked about the 1974 forest communications. John Crumb, deputy warden, duties of the Idaho deputy forest wardens; Jim Trunty, Panfield, fire control officer, the fire boss, responsibilities of small fires; John Whitaker, administrative officer, reduction in vehicle mileage and fuel shortages; and Dick Standley, also reported on CFS assignments and red cards and the rating committee.

Standley also covered fire and weather reports and maintenance of fire saws and pumps Friday afternoon.

During the simulator practice two fires were simulated. One was in the top of mountains and the other in the south portion of the forest.

New TF park opening set

By BONNIE BAIRD JONES

TWIN FALLS — Twin Falls County's newest park development, Hook Creek Park just west of Magic Valley Memorial Hospital, is expected to be open to the public this summer.

May 15 is the target date for completion of the development.

Ed Woods, county zoning administrator, said the major project will be the completion of a new road which already has been completed. The road will be 100 feet wide and will have a gravel base. The road will be 100 feet wide and will have a gravel base. The road will be 100 feet wide and will have a gravel base.

Instead, a single two-lane roadway will be built in a new location between the two old roadbeds. As weather permits, trucks will begin hauling gravel and dirt into the area, Woods said. The road was cut last fall but work was abandoned when fall and winter weather turned the base to mud.

About four acres of land along the creek has been developed into park facilities. Grass, one of the major problems because of the nature of the soil, is now beginning to grow, Woods said.

Within the next two weeks, the county has been able to install a number of grill type fireplaces, picnic tables, drinking fountains, restrooms and benches. Night lights, which automatically turn on at dark, have also been installed.

Woods said plans are to close the park at night to reduce vandalism and eliminate caretaker problems. He said a part time caretaker will be hired and special arrangements will be made for organizations wishing to use the area for picnics and other group activities.

Some additional landscaping is needed, Woods said. The Twentieth Century Club will also be assisting with this.

Woods said work is underway on an additional parking lot for four country buildings adjacent to the hospital.

About 22 additional parking spaces will be provided in front of the Department of Environmental and Community Services building, the former nurses' home. Heavy equipment has already removed a section of the front lawn, trees and soil to make space for parking.

Woods said asphalt will be placed on the area and planters located in the area to replace trees and other landscaping.

Because of the many offices and employees using the old hospital and nurses home buildings, he said, parking space is at a premium in the area. The additional 22 spaces will help employees and customers of the DECS offices.

Clinic slated

TWIN FALLS — Area residents will have a chance to see if they have high blood pressure in a free clinic set for Friday and Saturday.

The screening clinic, for hypertension, high blood pressure, will be held at the Magic Valley store in Twin Falls from 1 p.m. to 8 p.m. Friday and from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturday.

Statistics indicate that about 20 million people in the United States have high blood pressure, but that only half of them know they have the condition.

Complications brought on by high blood pressure will kill an estimated 250,000 people this year.

The clinic is sponsored by the Mountain States Regional Medical Program, Public Health District No. 5, the Idaho Heart Association, and the Idaho Nurses' Association.

Free information on high blood pressure and its treatment can be obtained at the clinic.

Jerome fire hints arson

JEROME — The Jerome Fire Department is investigating the possibility of arson in a two alarm fire this morning at Wood Cafe.

Lynn Bingham, city fire chief, said the fire department received a call at 1 a.m. today from an unidentified person who reported the fire. He said the fire was concentrated at the rear of the building around the back entrance.

"When we arrived both doors at the rear of the building were on fire. I believe the fire started outside the building, and the possibility of arson is being investigated," Bingham said.

The first alarm whistle at a 1000 a.m. city fire trucks to the blaze. A second alarm at 11:05 a.m. called out the Jerome rural fire department.

Bingham said whenever a commercial building or fire, both departments are called to minimize damage.

No estimate of damage was available this morning, but most of the damage was to the rear doors and there was some damage to the roof. The restaurant opened as usual.

Killings threatened

HERMOSILLO, Mexico — The ransom note found after the disappearance of U.S. Vice Consul John Patterson 10 days ago threatened that the kidnappers would kill one American a week if the money was not paid. It was reported today.

The newspaper "El Imparcial" published what it said were portions of the ransom note, written in Patterson's own hand. It threatened to kill one person a week chosen from families of consular officials.

The note, which was found in the consulate on March 22, barely two hours after Patterson's disappearance, was one and one half pages long.

2 Gem senators score perfect attendance records

BOISE — UPI — Sens. James Stuckey, D-Sandpoint, and Reed Budge, R-Soda Springs, had perfect attendance records in the second regular session of the 42nd Idaho Legislature, the Lewiston Morning Tribune said today.

In a story by reporters Jay Shalaby and Rod Gramer, the newspaper said a check of official records showed they were present for every rollcall vote during the 76-day session that adjourned Saturday night.

The paper said that Rep. John Reardon, D-Boise, missed more rollcall votes than any of the other 104 legislators. They said he was on hand for only 93 per cent of the votes.

In checking on the attendance, the reporters surveyed a total of 1,038 roll calls—530 in the House and 508 in the Senate—that includes every bill passed or defeated at this legislative session. They counted only those votes which affected the final determination of a bill, memorial or resolution.

Senators Stuckey and Budge, others high on the list for attendance were Sens. Dean Swenson, R-Nampa, and Jack Tarke, both Nampa, and two most diligent members were Rep. Fred Dean, R-Nampa, and Herb Fritz, R-Soda Springs, both present for 95 per cent of the rollcall votes.

Reps. Earl Greenwood, R-Jerome, Harold Reid, D-Fairfield, and Steve Anthony, D-Idaho Falls, came next in the standings. Jack Swenson, R-Boise, had the worst attendance record. He was present for 52 per cent of the rollcall votes. Sen. Richard Egbert, D-Teton, was the next worst in the Senate—being present only 50 per cent of the votes.

Rep. B. E. Leary, R-Saunders, had a poor attendance record—being present for only 52 per cent of the rollcall votes. However, he was ill for two weeks and did not appoint a substitute.

Rep. Joe Wagner, D-Eatonville, and his substitute, Arnie Rep. Tom Burton, D-Eatonville, had a combined attendance record of 64 per cent. Budge substituted for Wagner during his six week illness.

Missing a third of the votes was Rep. Dale Brannon, D-Nezperce. He was present for 67 per cent of the rollcalls.

The survey showed the average senator as twice as diligent about attendance on the floor than his counterpart in the House. The average senator missed slightly more than 11 votes for a 91 per cent attendance record. The average representative missed nearly 62 votes for an 85 per cent record.

The banana is not a pretty creature. Live in the sea. Shaped like a sack. Sunken eyes. Braily moustache. Fat top. A tail like a spade. Grows about 15 feet long. Weighs a ton. And tape measures more than seven feet around the waist. That beast is thought to have inspired among ancient sailors the earliest notions about beautiful mermaids. Those old boys must have been out on the water a long time, whid?

Csonka, teammates jump to new World Football League

NEW YORK (UPI) — Larry Csonka, the prime mover and MVP in Miami's Super Bowl win, jumped to the new World Football League Sunday along with Dolphin teammates Jim Kwik and Paul Warfield, all signing with the Toronto Northern for a $5 million package constituting the largest one ever put together in the entire history of sports.

The defection of the three who will play out their options with the Dolphins this season before reporting to Toronto in 1975, amounts to a major blow to the much longer established National Football League.

Csonka, the No. 1 fullback in the game, will receive the lion's share of the $3 million total, which is to be spread out over three years in installments of $1 million a year.

"Money isn't always the only consideration," said the 27-year-old Csonka. "In this case, it is one of the considerations, of course, but there are others which I do not wish to discuss. We had a figure in the back of our heads. The Toronto club offered us more than we anticipated. Even more than we had asked for in the exploratory package."

Csonka, a former Syracuse University All-American who has starred in each of his six seasons with the Dolphins, said he is "very sad" about having to leave the Miami fans and Dolphins coach Don Shula.

"The Miami fans are and always have been super," said Csonka. "I'll be very sad about having to leave them, but I am looking forward to coming back there this season. I'm also very about having to leave coach Shula. I'd love to play football for him the rest of my life, but sometimes the things you want to do, simply aren't in the cards. As I've said, there are a lot of other factors involved."

Csonka, his running back buddy, Kwik, and Warfield, probably the finest wide receiver in the game, all arrived in Toronto with their representative Ed Keating, Friday night to talk with John Bassett, Jr., owner of the Northern, and his partner, H.A. Stallway, who had selected the three Miami players in the WFL's draft of NFL players a few weeks ago.

Bassett, a well-known Canadian sportsman, and Stallway, a Toronto attorney, then made their offer, and it was relayed to Joe Robbie, the Dolphins' managing general partner in Miami.

Robbie had an option. He was free to act on the Northern's eye-popping offer, or reject it. He asked for time to think it over.

Shula also was notified and he spoke with Robbie. Csonka, who was getting approximately $60,000 a year with the Dolphins last year, he, Kwik and Warfield were "holding off" signing until noon Sunday. Keating said the total package offered by the Northern was eye-popping "excess" of $3 million but refused to give a breakdown on how much each player will receive.

Keating said the Toronto club was stunned by Csonka, the 27-year-old Kwik and the 31-year-old Warfield will run from 1975 through 1977, and after Csonka signed his document, "I'm sure it will be a perfectly straight fact. I hope this introduces a new concept in owner-player relationships."

Bassett said he hoped the "excess" of $3 million but refused to give a breakdown on how much each player will receive.

Lee Trevino fires 65 to win at New Orleans

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — Lee Trevino, playing what he called his most perfect round under the pressure of having the lead, crushed the field Sunday after the $150,000 Greater New Orleans Open golf tournament with a sizzling seven-under-par 65 for a 72-hole total of 21 under par.

The 297, lowest total on the PGA tour this year, gave Trevino an incredible eighth shot victory over runner-up Bobby Layton, who finished at 20 under par.

Trevino, who entered the final round tied with Cole, took charge in the first six holes when he scored four birdies. After that, no one challenged the 33-year-old Mexican-American from El Paso on the 7,000-yard, par-72 Lakewood Country Club course.

Trevino, who pocketed $30,000 with his first victory in more than a year, used one-iron off many tees and finished the 72 holes without ever taking a "big" shot.

"This is as near a perfect round as I've ever played with the lead," Trevino said. "I played the course today the way as I have all week. I just a tournament once in Portland, Ore., when I had a six-shot lead with three holes to go. I wasn't going to make that mistake again."

Trevino started his birdie spree on the 560-yard, par-4 No. 2, breaching in an eight-footer. He rolled in a 10-footer on the 390-yard, par-3 No. 3, an eight-footer on the 410-yard, par-4 No. 5, and a three-footer in the 560-yard, par-5 No. 6, where he finished a pitching wedge 65 yards from the pin.

"But the turning point for me was the birdie on No. 10," Trevino said.

On that hole, he smashed a seven-iron from the flag and sank the putt. When Trevino said, "I told him I didn't want to make any mistakes," Trevino said, "I told him I didn't want to make any mistakes."

Trevino, who missed only three greens all week and none Sunday, continued his torrid round with a two-putt birdie on the 530-yard, par-5 15th and 18-foot putt on the 210-yard, par-3 17th.

A crowd estimated at 18,000 followed the native of Dallas most of the way after it became obvious no one had a chance to catch him.

Capital tops N.Y. to even playoffs

LANDOVER, Md. (UPI) — Phil Chenier scored 35 points and Elvin Hayes 34 Sunday to lead the Bullets to a 99-90 win over the New York Knicks in the first round of the Eastern Division first round playoff game.

The win evened the best-of-five series with a third game scheduled Tuesday night in New York.

Chenier, who bettered his old playoff scoring high of 27 points, ended 20 points in the first half as capital came from eight points back to lead 59-44 at the half.

New York fell behind after Walt Frazier picked up four personal fouls in the third quarter and did not return until the third period. Then he was ineffective, finishing with only six points.

Hayes, who played much of the second half with his personal fouls, led all rebounders with 21. Wes Unseld had 17 as the Bullets out-rebounded the Knicks 60-49.

Knicks coach Pat Patterson, who helped the Knicks dominate the rebounding in the fourth period, 15-5, as he finished with nine points. Five of them were the offensive boards.

Capital never trailed in the second half, leading 61-56 midway through the third quarter, and 70-66 at the end of the third period.

Unseld scored two straight baskets in the final period to give Capital an 82-72 lead. After New York closed to within five, 84-79, Chenier and Hayes scored 10 or more points, 15 points to assure the victory.

Dave Busschere led New York with 20 points while Earl Monroe added 17. John Givanni had 11.

Trevino started his birdie spree on the 560-yard, par-4 No. 2, breaching in an eight-footer. He rolled in a 10-footer on the 390-yard, par-3 No. 3, an eight-footer on the 410-yard, par-4 No. 5, and a three-footer in the 560-yard, par-5 No. 6, where he finished a pitching wedge 65 yards from the pin.

Bucks top Lakers, lead playoff 2-0

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (UPI) — The Milwaukee Bucks, who won the first of two games Sunday night to upend the Los Angeles Lakers 109-90 and take a 2-0 lead in their National Basketball Association semifinal western conference playoff.

"This was the Bucks' night all the way, with the only Los Angeles lead 24 in the opening seconds when Gail Goodrich took a pass on the tipoff and drove for an easy basket."

It looked like a repeat of Friday's 99-95 Milwaukee victory as the teams traded baskets in the first 10 minutes before Ron Williams, a hero in their Friday night win, popped on a 20-foot jumper from the side to give them a 14-12 lead and they never trailed after that.

Milwaukee opened up an eight-point lead later in the quarter and was on the top 23 as it ended.

Contie Hawkins brought the Lakers to life with four baskets in a row in the second quarter to narrow it and the Bucks had only 20-18 lead at intermission.

Then came the third period in which Milwaukee out-rebounded the Lakers 17-9 and made 10 of 30 shots to put the victory away. But old pro Oscar Robertson scored five points during their successive run of 10 points and opened up the lead at that point, 62-52, with an off balance jumper on a pass from Williams.

It was easy after that. The Bucks continued to dominate the offensive board and pick up loose balls they turned into baskets. Williams, just before he fouled out, whipped a pass to Kareem Abdul-Jabbar, who stuffed the shot to give Milwaukee its biggest edge, 81-82, and brought a huge roar from the crowd.

Owner is unhappy with move

MIAMI (UPI) — Miami Dolphins owner Jim Irsay said Sunday he refused to put $1 million in cash in a bank to keep stars Larry Csonka, Paul Warfield and Jim Kwik on the team and said he might take legal action to stop their defection to the World Football League.

"We were torpedoed," said Robbie at a news conference after the announcement that the players had signed a three-year, multi-million dollar contract with Toronto, and added that he would take whatever legal action he could to stop the move.

Dolphin coach Don Shula, who also attended the news conference, said he was "disappointed, shocked, sick" over the announcement.

Robbie would not discuss possible legal remedies with reporters at the Sunday evening news conference but said, "We're going to completely investigate our legal rights in a situation where three of our players have signed contracts while still under contract to us."

Backlash hampers ag census planning

By BERNARD BRENNER
UPI Farm Editor
WASHINGTON (UPI) — A backlash of criticism over alleged government attempts to invade farmers' privacy is hampering efforts to plan collection of information in a 1974 census of agriculture, an official warns.

The problem, according to Census Bureau Director Vincent P. Barabba, involves an "Address Register" which the bureau uses in mailing census questionnaires to farmers in preparing this list, which is vital to a successful mail census system, Barabba says.

The bureau has learned heavily from past censuses that the internal revenue service of persons who file farm tax returns.

Until recently, Barabba indicated in an appearance before farm magazine editors here, the system created no problems, but now the Census Bureau has been caught in the backlash of a controversy over efforts by the Department of Agriculture to get similar lists of farmers from IRS tax records.

President Nixon originally approved the Agriculture Department plan in 1973 and issued an executive order granting that agency access to IRS information. But following a long argument, the move would invade privacy, charges the Agriculture Department hotly denied. — Nixon recently withdrew the executive order.

Technically, the future over agriculture use of the records did not directly affect the long standing census arrangement, but in the wake of all the publicity and congressional attention, Barabba said, the IRS is "now even reluctant to furnish the (Census) Bureau itself with the names and addresses needed to build an Address Register for the 1974 census of agriculture."

"We're negotiating and are hopeful, but our time schedule is rapidly approaching another critical date. By April 30, time runs out on some of the alternatives we're considering," Barabba warned.

If the Census Bureau cannot get the lists it needs from IRS, Barabba indicated it would have to turn to other costlier methods. As a last resort, he said, the Bureau might have to turn back to the use of enumerators who personally visit all persons checked. This would double the cost of the census, he said.

Barabba said that if his Bureau is able to stick to the agricultural censuses, mail survey method, it hopes to send questionnaires to farmers next December and to complete follow-up data collection by telephone and personal visits by June 30, 1975. Reports would begin flowing in December, 1975, — some months earlier than the schedule following the agricultural censuses.
